DEAN’S ORDER, which issues the dean’s order no. 11/2019, Preventive vaccination against hepatitis B (hereinafter the „Order“)

Article 1
Subject of the Order

This Order, in accordance with § 11 of the Decree of the Ministry of Health of the Czech Republic no. 439/2000 Coll. and art. 5 par. 1 letter c) of Regulations for Organisation of Studies at the Third Faculty of Medicine details the procedure for assuring protection of students of Master and Bachelor study programmes against the infection by hepatitis B virus during education that takes place in medical institutions.

Article 2
Requirements for registering subjects

1. Coming into effect in academic year 2019/2020, I establish that in order to be able to register study subjects listed in Addendum 1 of this Order, students are required to present a confirmation of vaccination against hepatitis B or confirmation of sufficient level of antibodies against hepatitis B. Students who have not undergone the vaccination yet shall contact the Study Division and start the process of vaccination at the Department of Occupational and Travel Medicine (Klinika pracovního a cestovního lékařství) of the Faculty Hospital Královské Vinohrady.

2. Students will prove the executed vaccination (3 doses) with a written certificate issued by a physician – usually a general practitioner on the form titled “Confirmation of Vaccination” (see Addendum 2) – or with a photocopy of the vaccination certificate. Students can prove sufficient level of antibodies against hepatitis B by a written confirmation issued by a doctor – usually a general practitioner.

3. Students will hand in a confirmation stated in paragraph 2 of this article by the last day of the period for registering for studies at the Study Division of the faculty, either in person or by sending it via post or electronically. In case the students send the confirmation via email, they shall use the email of their study officer.

4. In case the information from the general practitioner is not available or in case there is any other need, it is possible to provide an examination for antibodies and vaccination against hepatitis B at the Department of Occupational and Travel Medicine of the Faculty Hospital Královské Vinohrady.
Article 3
Consequences of not meeting requirements for registration of a subject

1. If students do not meet the obligation given by this Order, they will not be allowed to register for a subject which registration is conditioned by presenting the confirmation.

2. Well-founded exceptions from the obligation established by this Order (especially based on a student’s health state) are allowed by the Vice-Dean for Undergraduate Education and Student Affairs on basis of a written request.

Article 4
Final provisions

1. The full text of this order will be published at VNS and on the faculty web page.

2. Addendums of the Order:
   Addendum no. 1 – List of subjects whose registration is conditioned by presenting the confirmation
   Addendum no. 2 – Example of a confirmation of vaccination

3. This Order replaces Dean’s Order 4/2005.

4. This order comes into effect on August 1, 2019.
